How a vehicle leaves an Arizona estate without a court ever being involved. The affidavit is sworn by the successor - the person entitled to the property by will or by intestate succession - and it stands in for probate as long as the estate is small enough and enough time has passed. It also carries the odometer disclosure, which is why it cannot simply be signed by whoever is clearing the house.

This sheet is not the form. Download the blank 32-6901 from the Arizona Department of Transportation, Motor Vehicle Division at <https://apps.azdot.gov/files/mvd/mvd-forms-lib/32-6901.pdf> — always take the current revision from the agency rather than a copy. Print this and keep it beside you while you complete theirs.

Every line, in the order you meet it

1	YOU	Owner Name	The person who died, named as the vehicle title records them. Watch out: If the title carries a middle initial and the death certificate carries a full middle name, expect a One and the Same Certificate to be asked for as well.
2	YOU	Date of Death, County, State	From the death certificate. Watch out: The date is what the thirty-day rule runs from, and it is the first thing checked. Signing early invalidates the affidavit rather than delaying it.
3	YOU	The six sworn statements	Pre-printed. Read them; you are swearing to all six. Watch out: The one people trip over is the fourth. If a personal representative was appointed and never formally discharged, this affidavit is not available yet.
4	YOU	Vehicle Identification Number	One character per printed box, with the 5th, 10th and 17th positions marked above. Watch out: Use the markers as a running check. A VIN that ends short of the last box has a character missing somewhere earlier.
5	YOU	Year, Make, Body Style, Plate Number	The vehicle as MVD holds it. Watch out: The plate is still registered to the person who died. It comes off the car and is dealt with like any other plate a seller ends up holding.
6	YOU	Odometer Reading and the unit box	Whole miles, read off the car, with miles or kilometers ticked. Watch out: Read it now rather than trusting a service record. The affiant is certifying it personally, and the certification sentence is directly underneath.
7	YOU	The two exception boxes	Only where the odometer has rolled over or the reading is not the actual mileage. Watch out: On a car that sat for a year after a death, actual is usually the right answer. Nothing about an estate makes a reading unreliable.
8	YOU	Affiant Name, Signature and Date	The successor swears and signs. Watch out: The affiant has to be the person entitled to the vehicle. A helpful relative signing on their behalf is not the same thing and is not accepted.

What gets this one rejected

- Signing it inside thirty days. The first sworn statement is that the person died more than 30 days prior to the execution of this affidavit, and the affidavit is sworn.
- An estate over the threshold. The affidavit only works where the personal property, less liens and encumbrances, does not exceed $200,000.
- Using it while a probate is running. It cannot be sworn if an application or petition for the appointment of a personal representative is pending or has been granted and not discharged.
- Using it where a surviving co-owner exists. On an OR title, MVD's own note is that a Non-Probate Affidavit is not acceptable to transfer the deceased owner's interest when there is a surviving owner - the survivor simply signs.
- Leaving the odometer block empty on a vehicle that still needs a disclosure. ADOT requires any person completing a Non-Probate Affidavit to complete and sign the odometer statement on the form itself.
- Two successors, one affidavit. The form has a single affiant line, and the person who swears it is the person the vehicle passes to.
