A single certification from somebody whose name was written on a title by mistake. It says, in one sentence, that they never bought the vehicle, never took possession of it and have no interest in it - which is what MVD needs before the title can be assigned to whoever really did buy it.

This sheet is not the form. Download the blank 46-0306 from the Arizona Department of Transportation, Motor Vehicle Division at <https://apps.azdot.gov/files/mvd/mvd-forms-lib/46-0306.pdf> — always take the current revision from the agency rather than a copy. Print this and keep it beside you while you complete theirs.

Every line, in the order you meet it

1	BUYER	Vehicle Identification Number, Year, Make	The vehicle being disclaimed. Watch out: Take it from the title carrying the wrong name, so the two documents describe the same thing in the same way.
2	BUYER	Name	The person whose name was written on the title in error, exactly as it was written. Watch out: Write it as it appears on the title. This form is answering a specific entry, and the counter matches the two.
3	BUYER	Street Address, City, State, Zip	Where that person lives. Watch out: MVD lists the address among the form's required contents, so a signature with no address is an incomplete release.
4	BUYER	Signature and Date	Signed by the person releasing, and dated. Watch out: There is no witness block, which means the whole document rests on the signature. Keep a copy before it goes to the counter.

What gets this one rejected

- The owner signing it. This is signed by the person whose name was entered incorrectly, not by whoever entered it.
- Filing it alone. Where an error was made in the assignment area, MVD requires this and a Statement of Error together, so that one document disclaims and the other names the correct buyer.
- Leaving the address off. The form's required content is a complete description of the vehicle, the individual's name and address, and the individual's signature.
- Using it to undo a real sale. If the person did take the car, this is not the form - a re-assignment is.
