Colorado · written against DR 2421 (09/15/23), issued under C.R.S. 42-6-116 and 18-8-503

A single page that says two names belong to one person or one company. It is the smallest form in the Colorado set and the one an ordinary seller is most likely to be sent away for, because the department's rule is unforgiving: the seller must print their name exactly as the face of the title prints it, and a first initial with a last name is not acceptable from a seller or a seller's agent.

This sheet is not the form. Download the blank DR 2421 from the Colorado Department of Revenue, Division of Motor Vehicles at <https://dmv.colorado.gov/sites/dmv/files/documents/DR2421.pdf> — always take the current revision from the agency rather than a copy. Print this and keep it beside you while you complete theirs.

Every line, in the order you meet it

1	YOU	Name of Person or Name of Company One	The spelling on the face of the certificate of title, character for character, including any middle name printed there. Watch out: Copy it from the document, not from memory. Half the statements filed for a spelling mismatch have a third spelling on them.
2	YOU	and Name of Person or Name of Company Two	The other spelling - normally the one on the secure and verifiable identification you handed across the counter. Watch out: If three spellings are in play - title, licence, and the assignment you already signed - the statement needs to name the pair the clerk is actually stuck on.
3	YOU	Are one and the same: Person or Company	One tick. Person for two spellings of a human being, Company for a trading name and the legal entity behind it. Watch out: A sole trader selling a van titled in a business name ticks Company, not Person, even though there is one human involved.
4	YOU	Signature	One signature under the certification made under penalty of perjury in the second degree. Watch out: Signed by the person whose two names are being reconciled. A relative, a partner or an agent cannot swear to it for you unless they hold a power of attorney.

What gets this one rejected

- Neither box ticked. Person and Company are the whole of the choice and the clerk cannot infer which one a name is.
- Two names that are not plausibly the same person. It reconciles a spelling, a middle initial, a maiden name or a trading name - it does not transfer anything.
- Filed instead of getting the printed name right. Where the assignment has not been signed yet, spelling it the way the face of the title spells it costs nothing and saves this sheet.
- One statement covering two different mismatches. A seller whose name is wrong and a buyer whose name is wrong need one of these each.
- An alteration to either name field. Colorado's general rule on title documents is that an alteration or erasure may void them.
