Florida · written against HSMV 82101 (Rev 01/13/21), issued under section 319.29, Florida Statutes

Three applications printed as one, and choosing the wrong one of the three costs either money or a wasted trip. A duplicate replaces a paper certificate that is lost, stolen or damaged. A lost in transit request covers one the department issued that never arrived. A duplicate with transfer orders the replacement and hands it straight to a buyer in the same transaction.

This sheet is not the form. Download the blank HSMV 82101 from the Florida Department of Highway Safety and Motor Vehicles at <https://www.flhsmv.gov/pdf/forms/82101.pdf> — always take the current revision from the agency rather than a copy. Print this and keep it beside you while you complete theirs.

Every line, in the order you meet it

1	YOU	Which of the three applications this is	Vehicle/Vessel Duplicate, Vehicle/Vessel Lost in Transit, or Duplicate with Transfer. Tick one. Watch out: Lost in transit has no fee if the application is made within 180 days of the last title issuance and the certificate went astray in the post. Duplicate with transfer is a duplicate and a sale in one visit, and the form warns that both parties must be present for it.
2	YOU	Lost, stolen or damaged	One of the three, immediately underneath. The form says an indication of lost, stolen or damaged is required. Watch out: Damaged has a condition attached that the other two do not: the certificate itself has to be submitted with the application. If you tick damaged and keep the certificate, you have applied for something the counter cannot issue.
3	YOU	Owner's name, email and address	Name last-name-first, then the mailing address, city, state and zip. Watch out: There is a caution printed across the middle of that block: if the address differs from the department's records, address verification must be submitted. A duplicate posted to an address the record does not know is a duplicate nobody receives.
4	YOU	Who the application is made by	Tick Owner. The rest of section 2 is for a lienholder, a dealer or an auction applying instead. Watch out: Where a lienholder is on the record, the title goes to them by default. That is what the countersign box further down the form is for, and it is a lender's box rather than yours.
5	YOU	The vehicle description row	VIN, make, year, body, colour, licence plate number and the Florida title number. Watch out: The plate number belongs on this one, unlike the buyer's title application - you still hold the registration, because a lost certificate does not change who the plate is issued to.
6	YOU	The lienholder line	If there is no lien, print NONE. If there is, the lienholder's details go in the boxes beside it. Watch out: Print the word rather than leaving the line blank. A blank line is an unanswered question and comes back; NONE is an answer, and the department asks for it in those terms.
7	YOU	The odometer declaration	Tick 5 or 6 digit, one figure per box, then the date read and one of the three statements. Watch out: People are surprised to find a mileage declaration on a replacement-title application, and skip it. It is a title application like any other, and federal law attaches the disclosure to the application rather than to the sale.
8	YOU	The seller, owner or lienholder signature	Signature on the left, printed name on the right, on the third of the four signature rows. Watch out: Four rows and they are easy to confuse. The two above are the purchaser's and co-purchaser's, and on a duplicate with no transfer they stay empty. Signing the wrong row is fixable, but only with another form.
9	DEALER	Section 7, for the office	Duplicate authorisation verification, a signature, a printed name, county, agency number and the date completed. Watch out: It is headed for Florida DMV or tax collector or licence plate agency use only. Writing in it does not speed anything up; it makes the form look tampered with.

What gets this one rejected

- Not saying which. An indication of lost, stolen or damaged is required, and it is the first thing missing on a rejected application.
- Keeping a damaged certificate as a souvenir. Where the reason is damage, the certificate of title must be submitted with the form.
- Turning up alone for a duplicate with transfer. Both parties must be present for that transaction and both need photo identification.
- Sending an agent instead. A power of attorney may not be used on a duplicate with transfer, except where a total loss from an insurance company is being paid.
- Applying without proof of identity. The applicant must provide proof of identity with the completed application, including for anyone signing as an authorised agent for a business.
- An address that quietly differs from the department's record, with nothing attached to explain it.
