I understand that, pursuant to the Motor Vehicles Certificate of Title Act, the State Revenue Commissioner has the authority to investigate issues surrounding the titling and registration of motor vehicles and may refuse to issue a certificate of title if there are reasonable grounds to believe that the application contains a false statement or the applicant fails to furnish required information or documents or any additional information the commissioner reasonably requires. I understand that the Department may have information as to the vehicle's title history, the security interest holder's or the owner's address, or some other information that is relevant to the Act's requirements, which lien holder does not have. How to fill out T-4 — Notice of Satisfaction of Security Interest or Lien Holder's Affidavit

Georgia · written against T-4 (Rev 2-2015), issued under Article 3 of Chapter 3 in Title 40, as the form itself cites it satisfaction-of-lien/](https://sellmycarhub.com/forms/georgia/t-4-satisfaction-of-lien/)

The lender's sworn statement that the loan is paid and the security interest gone. Georgia's ordinary route is a release signed on the face of the certificate itself; this affidavit is what happens when that has not been done and the certificate has to be accompanied by a separate, notarised document instead.

This sheet is not the form. Download the blank T-4 from the Georgia Department of Revenue, Motor Vehicle Division at <https://dor.georgia.gov/document/form/t-4-notice-satisfaction-security-interest-or-lien-holders-affidavit/download?f=T-4.pdf> — always take the current revision from the agency rather than a copy. Print this and keep it beside you while you complete theirs.

Every line, in the order you meet it

1	LENDER	The person appearing	Printed full legal name of the executive officer, or the full legal name and driver's licence number of a sole proprietor or partner. Watch out: A title clerk at a bank is usually not an executive officer. Ask who at the lender is authorised to swear this before the appointment is made, or the notary visit is wasted.
2	LENDER	Legal business name of the lien holder	The lender's legal business name as listed on the certificate of title. Watch out: As listed on the certificate. Lenders merge and rebrand constantly, and a release in the new name against a certificate in the old one is the commonest reason this affidavit is refused.
3	LENDER	Owner names as they appear on the certificate	Your name, spelled the way the certificate spells it, and your residence address below it. Watch out: If the certificate has your name wrong, fixing that is a separate errand and it comes first. A one-and-the-same affidavit exists precisely for this.
4	LENDER	The vehicle row	Vehicle year and make, vehicle identification number, model and body style. Watch out: Check the VIN character by character against the certificate before it is notarised. Nothing on this form can be corrected afterwards.
5	LENDER	Title number and account number	State of title records, the title number and the lender's account number for the loan. Watch out: The account number is the lender's own reference and is what lets them find the file if the Department queries it. It is not on your certificate; it comes off your loan statement.
6	LENDER	The Yes acknowledgement	A single tick beside the paragraph about the State Revenue Commissioner's power to investigate and to reject an application. Watch out: Small box, long paragraph, easy to miss. It sits on the right-hand edge of the block and an untick led form is incomplete.

What gets this one rejected

- Anyone but the lien holder executing it. The instruction is that this affidavit should be executed by the person who holds a security interest or lien on the motor vehicle described.
- Using it for an electronic lien. The note is unambiguous: this form is not permitted for use by any participant in the Electronic Lien on Title programme for any security interest or lien which has been recorded electronically.
- A business name that does not match the certificate. The form asks for the legal business name as listed on the certificate of title, not the lender's current trading name.
- Any alteration. The footer says any alteration or correction voids this form, and that all previous revisions of it are obsolete.
- Sending it in on its own. It has to be legibly completed and attached to the application for certificate of title.
- An individual lien holder with no identification. Where the lien holder is a person rather than a business, a copy of their driver's licence has to accompany the form.
