Indiana · written against State Form 56620 (R2 / 12-24), issued under IC 9-17

The other half of the correction pair, and the one that exists because sellers leave the price blank. Where State Form 55582 fixes something written wrongly by the person who wrote it, this reports something never written at all - and it is signed by the purchaser, in cases where the purchaser cannot return to the seller to obtain it. Two tick boxes, a date and a price, and a warning that the BMV may pass it to the Department of Revenue.

This sheet is not the form. Download the blank State Form 56620 from the Indiana Bureau of Motor Vehicles at <https://forms.in.gov/Download.aspx?id=13936&f=/in-sf56620.pdf> — always take the current revision from the agency rather than a copy. Print this and keep it beside you while you complete theirs.

Every line, in the order you meet it

1	BUYER	Purchaser(s) Name	The buyer's own name, individual or company, in the first box of section 1. Watch out: This is one of the few BMV forms where the affiant is the buyer rather than the seller. If you are the seller and you are being asked to sign it, you are on the wrong form.
2	BUYER	The identification number	The vehicle or hull identification number in its banded box, then Year, Make and Model. Watch out: Off the certificate you are holding, not off the advert. This affidavit is going to be attached to a title record keyed on those seventeen characters.
3	BUYER	Date of Sale is missing	A tick, and the correct date in month, day and four-digit year. Watch out: The date you actually took the car. It is what the forty-five-day clock runs from, so a convenient later date is a false statement that buys nothing.
4	BUYER	Selling Price is missing	A tick, and the amount actually paid in the dollar box. Watch out: Read instruction 3 before writing an optimistic figure. The BMV reserves the right to forward completed forms to the Department of Revenue, and the Department may collect additional taxes.
5	BUYER	Sign it	Purchaser signature, printed name and date, under the perjury affirmation and the indemnity. Watch out: You are swearing to figures about a transaction the other party is not present for. That is exactly why the BMV limits this form to the case where the seller genuinely cannot be reached.
6	BUYER	Take it with the certificate	It goes to the branch with the incomplete certificate when the title application is made. Watch out: On its own it does nothing. It is a patch for a document, and the document has to be there for it to patch.

What gets this one rejected

- A seller filling it in. The section heading is the affirmation of purchaser(s) and the form is for the case where the buyer cannot get back to the seller.
- Using it where the seller is reachable. Instruction 2 limits it to cases where purchaser cannot return to the seller to obtain it - a phone call is cheaper than an affidavit.
- Using it after buying from a dealership. The same instruction ends with the condition that it may only be used if the seller is not a licensed car dealer.
- Inventing a purchase price to lower the tax. Instruction 3 warns that the BMV reserves the right to forward all completed forms to Indiana Department of Revenue for review, and the Department may collect additional taxes.
- Correcting something that was written. This form supplies what is missing; something written in error is the other affidavit.
- Ticking a box and leaving its blank empty. Each tick exists to introduce a value, and a tick with nothing after it reports a gap without filling it.
