Kentucky · written against TC 96-182 (Rev 06/2026), issued under KRS 186A.215 and KRS 190.990(5)

</forms/kentucky/tc96182-application-for-kentucky-certificate-of-title-or-registration/>

One sheet carrying four documents at once: the application for a new certificate, the odometer disclosure, the affidavit of total consideration that decides what the buyer is taxed on, and two separate notary blocks. A seller whose certificate was issued after February 2000 may never touch it, because the same four things are printed on the back of the title. A seller whose certificate is older has to complete it, and so does anyone whose title has run out of assignment space.

This sheet is not the form. Download the blank TC 96-182 from the Kentucky Transportation Cabinet, Division of Motor Vehicle Licensing at <https://transportation.ky.gov/Organizational-Resources/Forms/TC%2096-182.pdf> — always take the current revision from the agency rather than a copy. Print this and keep it beside you while you complete theirs.

Every line, in the order you meet it

1	YOU	Select the type of application	Transfer, for an ordinary sale between two people. The row underneath only opens up if you ticked Duplicate. Watch out: Title Only is the box people tick by accident. It produces a certificate without registration, which is right for a car being sold off the road and wrong for one the buyer intends to drive.
2	YOU	Section 1: vehicle identification	The vehicle identification number, then year, make, model, body style and colour, copied off the front of your certificate. Watch out: Copy it from the certificate rather than from the door pillar, and read it back a character at a time. A single wrong character is the most common reason a Kentucky application comes back.
3	YOU	The odometer reading, in miles with no tenths	The figure off the dash on the day of the handover, and then nothing else unless one of the two statements is true. Watch out: Read the caution line before you touch either box. Ticking one writes an odometer discrepancy onto the buyer's certificate and every certificate after it.
4	YOU	Date of sale, sale price, net cost	The day the keys changed hands and the money that changed hands with them. Trade-in and tax are for a dealership transaction and stay empty on a private sale. Watch out: The sentence under this row warns that leaving the sale price incomplete exposes the buyer to additional tax with penalty and interest. It is the buyer who gets that letter, not you.
5	YOU	The seller column	Your name exactly as the certificate prints it, a second name line if the front names two owners, then address, county, email and the date of transfer. Watch out: The dealer number line beside your name is not yours. If your name on the certificate differs from your identification, an affidavit reconciling the two goes in with this sheet.
6	YOU	The owner/buyer column	Their name, their Kentucky licence or Social Security number, their date of birth, and both a mailing and a residential address. Watch out: Copy it off their identification while they are in front of you. Their county decides which clerk's office the application is filed at.
7	YOU	Sign it in front of the attesting official	Signature (Seller 1), and Signature (Seller 2) if the certificate names two owners. Watch out: Not before. A notary attests to a signature made in their presence, and a sheet that arrives already signed goes home again unstamped.
8	YOU	The attesting official's own block	Signature and title, the sworn-or-affirmed date, and the commission number and expiration underneath. Watch out: Glance at the expiration date before you leave the desk. A commission that lapsed last month is the difference between a completed transfer and a car still in your name.

What gets this one rejected

- An erasure. The line across the foot is unambiguous: do not accept title or application showing any erasures, alteration, or mutilations.
- Pencil, or a colour that is not blue or black. The same line requires it be completed in blue or black ink if not completed online.
- One signature where the certificate joins two owners with AND, or where neither joint-ownership box was ticked - the form itself says that then takes both.
- A sale price left empty. The instruction printed under the money row is that the buyer may be billed for additional tax, plus applicable penalty and interest.
- A seller's signature with no attesting official under it. The block is not optional decoration; the clerk cannot process the application without it.
- A birth date or identification number missing from the buyer's column. The clerk keys those, and the application stops at the counter without them.

■ Amber is what you write □ Grey is a block somebody else completes The filled-in example is at the start of this sheet.
