Not the seller's form, and here because a person whose car has been taken will search for it. This is the document a secured party swears to say the vehicle was lawfully repossessed and to apply for a title in its own name - it is an affidavit and a title application on one sheet, it is notarised, and it carries the same odometer and damage disclosures a private sale does. Reading it tells a former owner exactly what has been said about their vehicle.

This sheet is not the form. Download the blank PS2024 from the Minnesota Driver and Vehicle Services at https://assets.dps.mn.gov/files/dvs/MV_AffidavitofRepossession_Title_Application.pdf — always take the current revision from the agency rather than a copy. Print this and keep it beside you while you complete theirs.

Every line, in the order you meet it

1	LENDER	Vehicle identification number	The wide box across the top of the form. Watch out: It has to match the security agreement and the title record. A repossession affidavit against the wrong identification number is a claim against somebody else's car.
2	LENDER	Plate, year, make, type, model	The row beneath, describing the vehicle as the record describes it. Watch out: In Minnesota the plate is still on the vehicle, so this is simply what was on it when it was taken.
3	LENDER	Name of registered owner and title number	The person the vehicle was titled to, and the number of that certificate. Watch out: This is the name that is about to come off the record. It is worth a former owner checking it is spelled correctly, because a corrected record afterwards is a harder job.
4	LENDER	Name of secured party and date of repossession	The two boxes that open the sworn statement, with the secured party's full address beneath. Watch out: The date is the fact everything else hangs off. It is what the lawfulness of the taking is measured from and what a former owner would compare against their own notices.
5	LENDER	Insurance	Auto insurance company, policy number and expiration date - the repossessing party's own. Watch out: The lender is applying to be the owner, and Minnesota's no-fault law attaches to owners. This block is not about the cover the former owner had.
6	LENDER	The odometer statement	The reading in whole miles, with either exception statement ticked only if true. Watch out: The warning printed under the two statements is that there is an odometer discrepancy if box 1 or 2 is checked, and that discrepancy follows the vehicle onto every future title.
7	LENDER	The damage disclosure	Has or Has Not sustained damage in excess of 80% actual cash value. Watch out: Required here exactly as it is on a private sale. A lender that ticks Has Not on a car it has never seen is certifying something it does not know.
8	LENDER	Sign before a notary	Signature of secured party, then subscribed and sworn before me, the day, the month, the year, county and commission expiry. Watch out: The indemnity above the signature is broad - it covers the registrar and all persons acting for him against any and all liability - and that is what the notarised oath is buying.

- What gets this one rejected

 - A private owner filing it. This is a secured party's affidavit and the signature block says so - a former owner has no standing on this form at all.
 - No notarisation. The block is on the face of the form and the affidavit does nothing without it.
 - A lender that already holds the title and wants to sell rather than keep. Instruction 3 sends them to a dealer purchase receipt instead of this form.
 - The odometer and damage disclosures left blank because the lender never drove the car. They are required of whoever is transferring the vehicle, and a repossessing party is transferring it.
 - A private party repossessing without accounting for the tax. The instructions say Minnesota sales tax is due if the private party was not the previous owner.
 - A missing date of repossession. It is the date the whole affidavit turns on, and a blank one leaves nothing sworn to.

☒ Amber is what you write ☐ Grey is a block somebody else completes The filled-in example is at the start of this sheet.
