Nevada · written against VP 024 (VP-24 (6/2026)), issued under NRS 146.080

Moves a car out of a dead person's name without going through probate court. If a parent or spouse died and the car is still titled to them, this is usually the document that unlocks it — and it is far quicker and cheaper than the court route most people assume they are stuck with.

This sheet is not the form. Download the blank VP 024 from the Nevada Department of Motor Vehicles at <https://dmv.nv.gov/pdfforms/vp024.pdf> — always take the current revision from the agency rather than a copy. Print this and keep it beside you while you complete theirs.

Every line, in the order you meet it

1	YOU	Full legal name of affiant	You — the person claiming the vehicle. Watch out: Your name as it appears on the identification you will show. This name has to carry through to the bottom of the form and match the notary's record of who appeared.
2	YOU	The date of death and the deceased's name	Day, month, last two digits of the year, then the name of the person who died. Watch out: Copy the date and the name exactly off the certified death certificate. That certificate has to be attached, so the two will be read side by side.
3	YOU	Your relationship to the deceased	Daughter, son, spouse, brother — how you are connected. Watch out: This is what establishes your right to succeed. Be plain: "daughter" is a better answer than "family member".
4	YOU	Year, make and model	The vehicle being claimed. Watch out: Copy from the title if you have it, or from the registration if you do not. If the title is missing as well, this pairs with a duplicate title application.
5	YOU	Vehicle Identification Number	One character per box. Watch out: Read it off the paperwork rather than the dashboard. This is the line that ties the affidavit to the DMV's record of the deceased's vehicle.
6	YOU	Why the vehicle transfers to you	The reason the affiant is entitled: the surviving spouse, the surviving daughter, and so on. Watch out: It should agree with the relationship you gave above. A mismatch between the two lines is the sort of thing that stops the transaction at the counter.
7	YOU	Your physical and mailing addresses	Where you live, and where post should go. Watch out: The new title comes to the mailing address. "Same as physical" is fine when they match.
8	YOU	Your signature and printed name	Signed at the notary's desk, not before. Watch out: The printed name goes beside the signature, and both have to match the affiant name at the top of the form. Add your title if you are signing in some capacity other than your own.
9	YOU	County, date and notary block	The bottom of the page: county within Nevada, the date sworn, and the notary's own printed name and signature. Watch out: All of it belongs to the notary or the DMV representative witnessing you. Signatures must be original and no changes may be made once it is signed.

What gets this one rejected

- Filing before 40 days have passed. NRS 146.080 requires it and the form makes you swear to it, with a certified death certificate attached as the evidence.
- Skipping the notice to other heirs. You have to give written notice — personal service or certified mail — to everyone whose right to succeed is equal or superior to yours, and at least 14 days must have elapsed since you sent it.
- Using it when the estate includes Nevada real property. Any real property, interest in it, mortgage or lien on it rules this route out entirely.
- Using it when probate is already running. The form requires that no petition for a personal representative is pending or granted in any jurisdiction.
- Using it while debts are outstanding. All debts, including funeral and burial expenses, must be paid or provided for.
- Claiming on behalf of other heirs without their written authority. You either claim for yourself alone, or you hold written authority from every other successor with an interest.
