For the estate that has a will but does not need a court. It transfers a vehicle subject to disposition by will where the total value of the estate is no more than $50,000.00, and it is signed by the successor in interest rather than by an executor. Four things are sworn, and the fourth catches people out: that all taxes and debts of the estate have been paid or otherwise provided for or are barred by limitations.

This sheet is not the form. Every line, in the order you meet it

1	OTHER	State of Oklahoma, County of	The county where it is sworn. Watch out: Match it to the notary block. They are describing the same act in the same place.
2	OTHER	The successor in interest, in the opening sentence	The person swearing, named as successor in interest. Watch out: Successor in interest means the person the will leaves the vehicle to. It is not a general description of next of kin.
3	OTHER	The registered owner, the make, the body style and the V.I.N.	The deceased and the vehicle. Watch out: The identification number here has to match the one in the will. Service Oklahoma's guidance asks for the vehicle to be left by name and VIN, and a will that describes it loosely will not carry this route.
4	OTHER	died on the __ day of __, __	The date of death. Watch out: The affidavit is only available ten days or more after that date, so an early appointment is a wasted one.
5	OTHER	Read all four sworn statements before signing	Value, no personal representative anywhere, entitlement to delivery, and debts settled. Watch out: The fourth is the one to think hardest about. Debts of the estate paid, provided for, or barred by limitations is a wider statement than most people realise they are making.
6	OTHER	Affiant, Address, City, State and Zip, then the notary block	The affiant's details and the perjury certification, sworn before a notary. Watch out: Take the death certificate and the will. Neither is optional and the form lists both.

What gets this one rejected

- No will. This route runs on an unprobated will naming the applicant as beneficiary of the referenced vehicle, and without one the no-administrator affidavit is the other door.
- A will that does not name the vehicle. Service Oklahoma's own summary requires it to be left to the applicant by name and VIN.
- An estate over the threshold. The value tested is property located in this state, subject to disposition by will, less liens and encumbrances.
- A probate open anywhere. The second sworn statement covers any jurisdiction, not just Oklahoma.
- Unsettled debts. Paid, provided for, or barred by limitations - those are the three permitted states, and hoping is not one of them.
- Missing the death certificate. It heads the form's own list of required documentation.
