The other half of the plate question. Because a Tennessee plate belongs to the owner and moves from car to car, a plate that has been lost, stolen or corroded past legibility is a problem that follows you rather than the vehicle you sold. Ten dollars at a county clerk, and one section of the form applies only where law enforcement has been involved.

This sheet is not the form. Download the blank F-1315301 from the Tennessee Department of Revenue at <https://www.tn.gov/content/dam/tn/revenue/documents/forms/titlereg/f1315301Fill-in.pdf> — always take the current revision from the agency rather than a copy. Print this and keep it beside you while you complete theirs.

Every line, in the order you meet it

1	YOU	Block A, you and the vehicle	Name, phone, address, then the vehicle identification number, make and year of the car the plate is currently on. Watch out: The vehicle here is where the plate lives now, not where it lived when it was issued. In Tennessee those are often different cars.
2	YOU	Duplicate or replacement	Two boxes at the head of block B, and they are different transactions. Watch out: A duplicate reproduces a plate you still hold; a replacement issues one for a plate that has gone or is no longer legible. Tick the one that describes what is actually in your hand.
3	YOU	Lost, stolen or mutilated	The Please Select row, and it decides whether section C applies. Watch out: Mutilated covers a plate that has corroded, faded or bent past legibility. It is the option that keeps you out of the law-enforcement block.
4	YOU	The plate number and class code	Plate format and number, then the class code and issue year, both from the registration. Watch out: The class code says what kind of plate it was - passenger, motorcycle, a specialty design - and it decides what you are issued in its place.
5	YOU	Section C, only if it was lost or stolen	Agency name, officer's name and the date the loss or theft was reported. Watch out: Report it before you fill this in, not afterwards. The block asks for a date reported, which means a report that already exists.
6	YOU	Sign, and take it to the clerk	Block D under the penalties-of-perjury line, then the form and $10 to your local county clerk's office. Watch out: Unlike the cancellation form, this one is a counter transaction. The clerk hands the new plate over, so go in person if you want it the same day.

What gets this one rejected

- Section C completed for a mutilated plate, or left empty for a lost or stolen one. The instruction line says section C is only required for lost or stolen license plates.
- No plate number. The class code and issue year go with it, and both are on the registration.
- A plate that should be cancelled rather than replaced. If it went with a car you sold, the form is the cancellation, not this one.
- Neither duplicate nor replacement ticked. They are different transactions and the boxes are not interchangeable.
- Sending it to Nashville. This one goes to your local county clerk, unlike the cancellation form.
