Virginia · written against VSA 70 (05/10/2018), issued under Va. Code 46.2-629

One page that lets somebody else sign a Virginia title on your behalf when registering or transferring a vehicle. It is a single-vehicle document - the certificate's own VIN and title number are printed into the middle of it - and unlike the equivalent form in several other states, it needs no notary at all. What it does need is care about who you name, because the wording gives them everything.

This sheet is not the form. Download the blank VSA 70 from the Virginia Department of Motor Vehicles at <https://www.dmv.virginia.gov/sites/default/files/forms/vsa70.pdf> — always take the current revision from the agency rather than a copy. Print this and keep it beside you while you complete theirs.

Every line, in the order you meet it

1	YOU	Vehicle owner or owners	Your name and address as they appear on the certificate, with the co-owner block used only if there is one. Watch out: Match the certificate, not the driving licence, if the two differ. This form is about signing that document.
2	YOU	Power of attorney granted to	The full legal name and address of the person who will sign for you. Watch out: Full legal name. A nickname on a power of attorney is an argument waiting at a DMV counter.
3	YOU	Vehicle information	Make, body type, model year, VIN and title number - the five boxes that limit the authority to one car. Watch out: Copy the title number as well as the VIN. Together they are what stops this page being used on a different vehicle.
4	YOU	Customer number and date	Your DMV customer number or employer federal ID, and the date you signed. Watch out: Sign on the printed rule above these boxes in ink. It is the one thing on this form that cannot be typed.

What gets this one rejected

- Leaving the vehicle block blank to keep it flexible. The authority is tied to the VIN and title number printed on it; a blank there is a general power of attorney, which is not what this form is.
- One owner signing for two. Both owners named on the certificate have their own signature line here for the same reason they both sign the certificate.
- Using it after the sale has already happened. It authorises signing on the owner's behalf, and the person granting it has to still be the owner when it is used.
- Naming the buyer as your attorney-in-fact without thinking about it. The wording lets them sign the certificate in your name, in whatever manner necessary - including in ways you did not discuss.
- Expecting a notary block. There is not one. This is affirmed under penalty of perjury like the rest of Virginia's set.

☒ Amber is what you write ☐ Grey is a block somebody else completes The filled-in example is at the start of this sheet.
