Submit the original title and $1.00 fee with this form to: Vehicle Research Unit
PO Box 8070
Madison WI, 53708-8070

- If the title is electronic, a paper title does not need to be issued per Wis. Stat. § 342.09(4)(b). Instead, submit a statement from the original lien holder on their letterhead advising that their lien is being reassigned to the new lien holder.

The undersigned assignor lien holder certifies they have assigned to the above-named assignee lien holder their security interest in the vehicle described above.

A one-dollar form that moves a live lien from one lender to another without touching who owns the car. A private seller does not file it, but it turns up in two situations that matter: when a credit union sells your loan on and the name on the title stops matching the letters you get, and when a buyer's second lender has to be listed on an MV1 that has room for only one.

This sheet is not the form. Download the blank MV2051 from the Wisconsin Department of Transportation, Division of Motor Vehicles at <https://wisconsindot.gov/Documents/formdocs/mv2051.pdf> — always take the current revision from the agency rather than a copy. Print this and keep it beside you while you complete theirs.

Every line, in the order you meet it

1	YOU	Owner Information	Your name and address, unchanged. The form records who the vehicle belongs to; it does not move it. Watch out: If this block is wrong, it is wrong on the title too, and the fix is an MV1020 correction request rather than an amendment here.
2	YOU	Vehicle Identification Number	Seventeen cells, with year, make and type across the same row. Watch out: Read it off the certificate. This form travels with the original title, so a mismatch is caught at the first desk it reaches.
3	LENDER	Current lien holder name and address	The lender noted on the certificate today. Watch out: That is the name printed on the front of your title, not necessarily the name on the letters you have been getting. Loans get sold; titles lag.
4	LENDER	Current lien holder Secured Party Number	Eight cells for the department's own number for that lender. Watch out: The number, not the name, is what WisDOT matches on. A lender who cannot give you theirs is a lender who has not done this before.
5	LENDER	Reassigned lien holder name and address	Who is taking the loan on, with their own address block. Watch out: Nothing here is yours to negotiate. If you are selling, what matters is whether the lien is being released, not where it is going.
6	LENDER	Reassigned lien holder Secured Party Number	A second eight-cell comb for the incoming lender's number. Watch out: Both numbers have to be present. A blank here is the most common reason one of these comes back from the Vehicle Research Unit.
7	LENDER	Assignor - Print Name, Title, Signature and Date	The outgoing lender's officer, with their job title beside their printed name, certifying the assignment. Watch out: There is no notary and no owner signature anywhere on this form. If somebody asks you to sign it, they have handed you the wrong sheet.

- What gets this one rejected
- Sending it without the original title. The form's instruction is to submit the original title and $1.00 fee with this form.
 - Sending a title that is electronic. Where the title is electronic, no paper title is issued - the outgoing lender sends a statement on its own letterhead instead.
 - An owner's signature where the assignor's belongs. The certification is the outgoing lender's: the undersigned assignor lien holder certifies they have assigned their security interest.
 - A missing secured party number on either lender. Both combs are there because the department matches on the number, not the name.
 - Using it to release a lien. A release is a separate document from the lender and it is what a buyer takes to the counter; this form keeps a lien alive and moves it.
