Thirteen boxes for the end of a car's life: an owner handing a vehicle to a licensed salvage dealer where the title has been lost, or has already gone to Madison marked JUNKED. It is the shortest form in Wisconsin's seller set and the most final - no certificate of title will be issued for this vehicle, printed on the sheet in the department's own words.

This sheet is not the form. Download the blank MV2459 from the Wisconsin Department of Transportation, Division of Motor Vehicles at <https://wisconsindot.gov/Documents/formdocs/MV2459.pdf> — always take the current revision from the agency rather than a copy. Print this and keep it beside you while you complete theirs.

Every line, in the order you meet it

1	YOU	Owner Name - Seller	You, at the head of the left-hand column, with your address and telephone number beneath. Watch out: Everything on the left of this sheet is yours and everything on the right is the salvage dealer's. The two columns look symmetrical and are not.
2	BUYER	Purchaser Name and address	The licensed salvage dealer taking the vehicle, in the right-hand column. Watch out: Licensed is the operative word. This form transfers to a licensed salvage dealer, not to a neighbour with a trailer.
3	YOU	Sale Price - Optional	What you were paid, in the right column, and the form says it is optional. Watch out: Fill it in anyway. It costs nothing, and it is the only record of what changed hands on a transaction with no title behind it.
4	YOU	Vehicle Year and Make	Two boxes at the foot of the left column. Watch out: Model has no box on this form. Year and make are all the department needs alongside the identification number.
5	YOU	Vehicle Identification Number or Engine Number	One box, and for cycles, mopeds and 1954-or-earlier vehicles an engine number is accepted instead. Watch out: That engine-number allowance is why this form still exists in its 2008 shape. On anything modern, use the VIN.
6	YOU	The certificate of title has been either	Two exclusive ticks: lost or destroyed, or marked JUNKED and surrendered to the department. Watch out: If you still hold the certificate and have not surrendered it, neither box is true yet. Write JUNK across it, send it in, and then this form fits.
7	YOU	Driver License Number or Photo Identification Number	One or the other, with the agency that issued the photo identification named beside it. Watch out: The form requires identity to be verified. A salvage dealer who does not ask for it is a salvage dealer filing an incomplete form.
8	YOU	Both signatures	Owner and purchaser, each with a date, at the foot of their own column. Watch out: Keep a copy, and file the seller notification within thirty days - s. 342.41 covers a junk vehicle transferred by bill of sale by name.

What gets this one rejected

- Using it to sell a running car to a private buyer. It is for transfer to a licensed salvage dealer, between licensed salvage dealers, or from an insurance company whose title has already been surrendered.
- Neither title box ticked. The affirmation only makes sense if the certificate is lost or has already gone to the department marked JUNKED.
- No identity number. The form states the owner's identity must be verified by either driver license number or photo identification number.
- A lien still showing on the record. The first affirmation is that no liens are outstanding against the vehicle.
- Expecting to change your mind. Once a vehicle is junked it can never be titled or licensed again, even if somebody repairs or restores it.

☒ Amber is what you write ☐ Grey is a block somebody else completes The filled-in example is at the start of this sheet.
