A single page that exists because private sellers sign in the wrong box. Its four tick boxes are four versions of the same afternoon: your name has appeared as a purchaser, or as a lien holder, or you wrote the wrong buyer's name in, on a document where correction fluid and erasure void the title outright. This is Wisconsin's alternative to paying the transfer fee twice.

This sheet is not the form. Download the blank MV2489 from the Wisconsin Department of Transportation, Division of Motor Vehicles at <https://wisconsin.gov/Documents/formdocs/mv2489.pdf> — always take the current revision from the agency rather than a copy. Print this and keep it beside you while you complete theirs.

Every line, in the order you meet it

1	YOU	Which of the four statements is yours	Name on the title in error; signed in the purchaser area; signed in the lien area; or printed the wrong buyer's name. Watch out: Read all four before ticking. The second and third look identical at a glance and they are about two different blocks on the back of the certificate.
2	YOU	The vehicle was actually sold to	A fill-in line that belongs only to the fourth box, for the buyer's first and last names printed clearly. Watch out: Only complete it if you ticked the fourth box. A name here with a different box ticked reads as two contradictory statements on one page.
3	YOU	Person making statement	Your first and last names, printed, in the left-hand block. Watch out: Print it exactly as it appears on the title, mistake and all. The department is matching your statement to what is written on the document.
4	YOU	Address, City, State, Zip code	Where a query comes back to. Watch out: This is the only contact detail on the form - there is no telephone or email box anywhere on it.
5	YOU	Vehicle Year, manufacturer and model	Three boxes down the right-hand column, describing the car the title belongs to. Watch out: Manufacturer means the make - Subaru, not Outback. The model goes in the box below it.
6	YOU	Vehicle Identification Number	One plain box at the foot of the vehicle column, not a comb. Watch out: Copy it from the title you are explaining, not from the car. If they differ, that is a much bigger conversation.
7	YOU	Signature of person certifying the statement above, and Date	One signature, one date, directly beneath the penalty paragraph. Watch out: There is no notary line on this form and no second signature. Send it with the title and the buyer's application rather than on its own - it has no mailing address of its own.

What gets this one rejected

- Ticking more than one box without explaining. Each statement says something different about what you did and did not intend.
- Using it to change the sale price or the odometer reading. Those are corrections to a record, not statements of intent - the MV1020 handles them, and the odometer has its own route.
- Correcting the title as well as filing this. Any alteration, correction fluid, or erasure voids this title, and the whole point of the form is that you do not touch the document.
- Leaving the fourth box's fill-in line blank after ticking it. The department needs the name of the person the vehicle was actually sold to.
- Filing it instead of a replacement title where the title is genuinely unusable. A statement explains a signature; it does not repair a mutilated certificate.

☒ Amber is what you write ☐ Grey is a block somebody else completes The filled-in example is at the start of this sheet.
